suburbs of Memphis, That is, the Tribune, to a population more than twenty-two times greater than ours, produces its paper at a cost only ten times that of ours. This will alford, at least, an idea of the money we speed, and freely, to give to Memphis a newspaper worthy not only of its present but its future prosperity and renown. Of the $2000 per week thus expended, we pay out for Front Row markets and the cotton report one fourth more than these, the leading interests of the city, return to us in advertising and subscriptions; indeed, there is but one branch of trade in Memphis that at all comes near paying us for our outlay in its behalf, and that is the retail dryggoods trade, a lew houses in which find big profit by advertising generously. It is from advertising generously. It is from advertising generously. It is from advertising that we derive our chief-support. Hence our charges for the publication of official reports; usual with all newspapers in the United States. In New York, these official reports are paid for at sure of twe cents, not in one, but often in four or five cents part in the continue of the poor, innocent Union men. If the Southern Radicals will turn Ku-Klux, have papers in the United States.
